Wofford College pitcher George Lehr was instrumental in his Durham Braves summer team capturing the 2001 Coastal Plain League championship.

Lehr, a rising senior righthander, posted a 4-3 record with eight saves and a 2.11 ERA as the Durham closer. He struck out 54 batters while walking just 19 in 63 innings.

Lehr earned the save while also striking out the side in the ninth inning in Sunday's 6-2 championship game victory over Wilson. The previous day, he retired all nine batters he faced, including five on strikeouts, to pick up the win in Durham's 1-0 10-inning victory over Fayetteville to advance to the title game.

A native of Largo, Fla., Lehr tied for the Wofford lead in victories this past season with six. His team-high 102.0 innings pitched ranked second in the Southern Conference. With a year of eligibility still remaining, his 76 appearances rank first all-time at Wofford.

Tony Carbone of the Wofford College baseball team has been selected by Baseball America as the Best Defensive Second Baseman in the Southern Conference.

A junior from A.C. Flora High School in Columbia, S.C., Carbone is moving to shortstop this season to offset the loss of Chad Livingston to graduation.

Carbone tied for second in the SoCon last year by taking part in 43 double plays. He committed just seven errors in 274 chances. He was one of only two Terriers to start all 48 games.

Wofford quarterback Travis Wilson, having completed his football eligibility this fall, has joined the Terrier baseball team.

A former standout baseball player at Newberry High School, Wilson was recruited by the likes of Clemson and South Carolina in that sport before signing with Wofford to play football. He was also offered a free-agent contract by the New York Mets.

Wilson, on pace to graduate this spring with a government degree, was rated by the High School Sports Report as the No. 2 third baseman in the state as a senior for Newberry. He was a Team Captain and Most Valuable Player for the Bulldogs. He was moved to the outfield for the Post 24 American Legion team after he graduated from high school. He batted over .400 with 11 home runs in legion play.

"We're obviously very excited about adding Travis to our program," Wofford Head Baseball Coach Steve Traylor said. "He's an outstanding athlete.

"Travis is already a legend at Wofford. He certainly has the size, strength, and leadership abilities to make a contribution to our program. We very much look forward to working with him to knock off the rust from not having played the last four years. We certainly feel he can contribute to the continued improvement of our program."

Wilson (6-foot-2, 205 pounds) is the only player in Wofford football history to rank in the top five in career rushing, passing, and total offense. Wilson is the Terriers' career passing leader with 4,067 yards. He's also second in total offense with 6,555 yards, trailing only Shawn Graves (7,067 yards, 1989-92). Carter Davis is in third place with 4,815 (1971-74). Wilson's 2,488 rushing yards place him fifth on the Terriers' all-time list.

Wofford College catcher Chris Cotugno and pitchers George Lehr and Tate Osterman have been cited by Collegiate Baseball magazine as Top Players to Watch in the Southern Conference this spring.

Cotugno, a senior from Tribes Hill, N.Y., topped the Terriers last season in batting (.348), home runs (six), and RBI (26) in earning team Most Valuable Players honors. He had two-homer games in an 8-2 victory over Davidson as well as a May 5 contest at Furman. Cotugno also tied for the SoCon lead last year in throwing out 19 opposing base stealers.

Lehr (6-7, 5.12 ERA) and Osterman (6-6, 4.35 ERA) combined for 12 of the Terriers' 17 wins a year ago while ranking second and third in the SoCon in innings pitched with 102.0 and 101.1, respectively.

With a year of eligibility still remaining, Lehr (Largo, Fla.) and Osterman (Oil City, Pa.) already rank first and second all-time in appearances at Wofford. Lehr has pitched in 76 games with Osterman at 68. The previous Terrier mark was 62 (Brian Mathis, 1986-89).

Osterman's 15 starts last year also set a new Wofford single-season mark while Lehr's 14 had tied the previous record.

Osterman earned SoCon Pitcher of the Week honors after posting a 2-0 record with a 0.64 ERA in leading the Terriers to wins in four out of five games over a Mar. 12-18 period.

Osterman allowed just four hits in pitching eight shutout innings on three days rest during Wofford's 4-0 victory over the College of Charleston. He allowed just one earned run on five hits over six innings in an 8-2 win over Fairfield. He allowed just one earned run on nine hits in 14 innings while striking out eight and walking five over the course of the week.

The Wofford College baseball program has announced the signing of Jesse Cole (Scituate, Mass., Scituate High School), Zach Pittman (Simpsonville, S.C.; Mauldin High School), and Jarrod Rampey (Pittsford, N.Y., Pittsford Sutherland High School) to National Letters-of-Intent.

Cole posted a 6-2 record with a 1.12 ERA as a junior last year, striking out 76 batters in 56 innings. Also a second baseman, he topped his league in hitting with a .500 average to go with two home runs and 15 RBI. He was the Patriot League Most Valuable Player and a selection to the Eastern Massachusetts All-Star Team.

Pittman is the No. 1-ranked second baseman in South Carolina by the High School Sports Report. He batted .350 last season with 25 stolen bases, a .420 on-base percentage, and 20 RBI. A four-year letterman for Mauldin High School, he has been the recipient of a team award for speed, strength, and agility.

Rampey, a pitcher and shortstop, has posted a combined 51-12 record with 14 saves and a 1.36 ERA over the last two years with his school and summer teams. An All-County selection and member of the All-Tournament teams at Wake Forest and William & Mary, he batted .492 last year when he was a team captain as a junior.

C

The Wofford College baseball team enters the 2002 season with momentum after posting its highest victory total in seven years of Division I play and equaling its most wins overall since 1992.

The Terriers return all but one position player from a year ago while All-SoCon candidates George Lehr and Tate Osterman anchor a pitching staff that returns intact after lowering its team ERA by over a run from the previous season.

Lehr will move into the closer role this season after a standout summer in that capacity for Durham in the Coastal Plain League, when Lehr's fastball was clocked at 92 miles per hour. Lehr and Osterman ranked second and third, respectively, last year in the SoCon in innings pitched. They are both former SoCon Pitchers of the Week.

Lehr and Osterman will be complemented by a strong starting staff and a nice blend of righthanders and southpaws in the bullpen.

Head Coach Steve Traylor, a former ACC Coach of the Year at Duke, has increased the Terriers' win total in each of his first two seasons at Wofford.

Traylor and his staff have brought in an outstanding recruiting class with as many as five newcomers expected to make an immediate impact. A veteran newcomer of note is former Terrier football standout Travis Wilson, who will compete for playing time in the outfield. Arguably the top all-around quarterback to ever play at Wofford, Wilson was a prep baseball standout at Newberry High School. Recruited in baseball by the likes of Clemson and South Carolina as well as being offered a free-agent contract by the New York Mets, Wilson chose instead to pursue a football career at Wofford.

A strength of the Terrier team will again be its middle defense with Tony Carbone at shortstop and Sacramento City College transfer Kyle Raulinaitis taking over at second. Traylor is also very high on freshman catcher Scott Holloway with either veteran Strat Stavrou or newcomer Brad Haynes in center.

Wofford has improved offensively from a year ago and increased its power and speed. The Terriers are a deeper squad with both lefthanded and righthanded bats on the bench. With 12 freshman on the 23-player roster last year, the Terriers will also be a more seasoned team this spring.

This year's schedule will again be formidable. In addition to the annual SoCon opponents, Wofford has road games at Georgia Tech, Georgia, Clemson, and South Carolina while hosting Michigan State, Purdue, and South Carolina among others.

Pitcher

Senior Tate Osterman (6-6, 4.35 ERA) will anchor the Senior Tate Osterman (0-0, 4.00 ERA) will anchor the starting rotation. The Oil City, Pa., native set a single-season Wofford record last year with 15 starts while ranking second in the SoCon with 101.1 innings pitched. He earned SoCon Pitcher of the Week honors after posting a 2-0 record with a 0.64 ERA when he allowed just one earned run in 14 innings during victories over Fairfield and College of Charleston. Osterman's win over CofC, in which he allowed just four hits in eight shutout innings, came on three days rest.

After making 14 starts and placing second in the SoCon in innings pitched a year ago, George Lehr (6-7, 5.12 ERA) will take over as the closer in the Wofford bullpen. The hardest throwing on the Terrier staff, Lehr is a tremendous competitor. He excelled as a closer with Durham in the Coastal Plain League this summer, posting a 2.11 ERA.

Making a bid to join Osterman in the starting rotation are a pair of imposing hurlers in 6-foot-5, 230-pound righthander Blake Timanus (2-2, 5.48 ERA) and 6-foot-7, 205-pound southpaw Culley Kline.

Timanus closed last season with complete-game victories over Winthrop and Charleston Southern. Kline, a transfer from Muscatine Community College in Iowa, throws hard with a good breaking ball.

Sophomore Chad McGill (2-2, 5.60 ERA) started six games last season and could be in line as a mid-week starter. Joey Cress (0-8, 6.71 ERA) will most likely be used as a veteran presence in middle relief.

The Terriers are hopeful of having a healthy Keith Sturkie (0-5, 5.71 ERA, 2 saves) to solidify their bullpen. The lefthander from West Columbia, S.C., was effective last season but did not pitch this fall due to arm problems.

Making a pitch to add depth to the relief corps is converted infielder Danny Slade. The senior from Newton, N.C., had a good fall in his transition to the mound and could find himself contributing in a new capacity this spring.

Nick Hewitt (0-0, 15.00 ERA), Eric Omohundro (0-0, 11.74 ERA), and Travis Trammell (0-0, 8.44 ERA) are returning hurlers who will be competing for work this spring, as are freshmen Matt Canine and Johnny Cantrell.

A late addition to the Wofford staff is lefthander Andy Halligan. Last year's Region Player of the Year and All-State selection at A.C. Flora in Columbia, S.C., attended the University of South Carolina this fall before transferring to Wofford.

Catcher

With returning starter Chris Cotugno's health in question, freshman Scott Holloway is projected to be behind the plate on opening day for the Terriers.

Cotugno (.348, 6 HR, 26 RBI), last year's team Most Valuable Player, has had shoulder problems and wasn't able to throw at all in the fall. Last year, he tied for the SoCon lead by throwing out 19 opposing base stealers. If he is unable to catch, Cotugno's bat will keep him in the lineup as a designated hitter.

Holloway is an outstanding young prospect. He is very good defensively and one of the fastest players on the team. The Marietta, Ga., native could be the Terriers' leadoff hitter.

Sophomore D.J. Rhodes (.279, 2 HR, 9 RBI) is in the mix for playing time as well. He could also see action in the designated hitter spot.

Kyle Davis and Andrew Nelson are a pair of freshmen who will add depth behind the plate.

Infield

A Terrier strength will be its middle infield defense with Tony Carbone at short and Kyle Raulinaitis at second.

Carbone (.233, 0 HR, 22 RBI) was spectacular at second last year and has already shown the ability to be among the best in the SoCon at his new position. He has great range and throwing ability.

Raulinaitis is also very solid defensively with a strong arm. The California native comes to the Terriers after playing the last two years for Sacramento City College.

Wofford is also strong in the field with Steve Casey (.243, 0 HR, 21 RBI) at first. Casey started last season strongly before being slowed by injuries. He had a great fall and provides the Terriers with a lefthanded bat in the middle of the lineup.

Timanus (.200, 1 HR, 9 RBI) is also strong defensively and could see time at first when not on the mound. He showcased his ability at the plate with a 4-for-4 performance and four RBI in the season finale last year at Georgia Southern.

Freshman switchhitter Matt Lein (Alpharetta, Ga.) looks to be the front runner for the starting job at third base, although he will be pushed hard by sophomore Matt Davis. The Seneca, S.C., native opened last year as the starter at the hot corner and will also provide depth at second base.

Outfield

The Terriers feel confident about their outfield situation with returning veterans Brian Casey (.272, 1 HR, 22 RBI), Strat Stavrou (.315, 0 HR, 18 RBI), and Lawson Burnat (.309, 1 HR, 22 RBI) being joined by newcomers Brad Haynes and Travis Wilson.

Casey, set to play in right, has the ability to be an All-SoCon performer. He will bat high in the lineup and is being counted on to have a breakout season. He runs well and had a very good fall.

Stavrou will be in his fourth year in the starting lineup. He's on pace to become Wofford's career leader in base hits and at bats. A career .303 hitter, the Sumter, S.C., native brings speed, a lefthanded bat, and strong defense to the Terrier lineup. Stavrou could move this spring from center to left to make room for Haynes.

A transfer from Andrews College, Haynes runs very well and could occupy centerfield.

Burnat provides a lefthanded bat and power to the lineup. He will compete for a starting job in left. He showed solid improvement both offensively and defensively this fall.

David Dufour (.146, 0 HR, 1 RBI) is also in the mix for playing time. He could contribute with his lefthanded bat off the bench along with pinch running ability.

The most intriguing newcomer is Wilson, who completed his stellar Wofford football career this fall. The Newberry, S.C., native is returning to the diamond for the first time since playing American Legion ball after his senior year of high school. A tremendous athlete, Wilson was recruited in baseball by Clemson and South Carolina during high school and was offered a free-agent contract by the New York Mets.

Wilson was rated by the High School Sports Report as the No. 2 third baseman in the state as a senior for Newberry. He was a Team Captain and Most Valuable Player for the Bulldogs. He was moved to the outfield for the Post 24 American Legion team after he graduated from high school. He batted over .400 with 11 home runs in legion play.

Newcomer Brad Haynes hit a two-run homer to highlight a four-run sixth inning as Wofford rallied for a 6-5 second-game victory and a season-opening doubleheader sweep of North Carolina A&T this afternoon at Duncan Park in Spartanburg, S.C. The Terriers won 4-0 in the opening contest.

Wofford has opened with a 2-0 record for the first time since the 1990 campaign. The Aggies drop to 1-4. The Terriers and North Carolina A&T will meet again in a 12 noon doubleheader tomorrow in Greensboro, N.C.

Freshman third baseman Matt Lein celebrated his 19th birthday by going 4-of-7 at the plate in the two games, including a stellar defensive play to save a run in the first contest.

After falling behind 5-0 in the second game, Lein got the Terriers on the board in the bottom of the third when he tripled and then scored on a wild pitch.

Tate Osterman (1-0) pitched six scoreless innings to earn the victory in game one. The senior righthander allowed just six hits while striking out four and walking one.

In the second game, sophomore Joey Cress (1-0) picked up his first collegiate win with three scoreless innings in relief. He surrendered three hits while striking one and not walking a batter. George Lehr earned the save by retiring the side in the seventh. Lehr also finished the first game with a scoreless inning.

Haynes, a transfer from Andrews Junior College, had two stolen bases in the first game. Each steal came after he was hit by a pitch. The two steals nearly equal Strat Stavrou's team-high total of three from last season.

Freshman catcher Scott Holloway threw out both Aggies attempting to steal in the first game while also nailing another North Carolina A&T runner in game two.

Eric Jones and Carlos Geathers each had two-run homers in the first inning to give the Aggies a 4-0 second-game lead.

Tate Osterman allowed just one run on two hits over 5.1 innings before George Lehr retired the final four batters, including striking out the side in the seventh inning, to lead Wofford to a 3-1 victory in the first game of a doubleheader before High Point came back to earn the split with a 2-0 win in the second game this afternoon in High Point, N.C.

In the game-one victory, the Terriers (4-2) broke a 1-1 tie in the top of the seventh and final inning on a Tony Carbone sacrifice fly before adding an insurance run on a Blake Timanus fielder's choice. Timanus gave Wofford a 1-0 third-inning lead with an RBI single.

Kyle Raulinaitis, Strat Stavrou, and Scott Holloway opened the seventh inning with singles to load the bases. Carbone's fly to center scored Raulinaitis with the game-winning run. After Matt Lein was intentionally walked to reload the bases, Stavrou scored on a grounder by Timanus to provide the final 3-1 margin.

Stavrou was 3-for-3 at the plate in the first game and totaled four hits overall in the doubleheader. Holloway had two hits in the game-one win. Osterman struck out six and walked just one in his second straight effective start. He has allowed just one earned run in 11.1 innings this year.

Lehr (1-0) picked the victory for Wofford. He was making his fourth relief appearance in the Terriers' opening five games. He also retired the only batter he faced in the second game.

In the nightcap, Culley Kline (0-2) allowed just two hits and no earned runs in five innings while striking out six and not walking a batter. Both runs scored against Kline, in the third inning, were unearned.

Kevin Burch (2-0) tossed six scoreless innings to earn the second-game win for High Point (4-2).

Wofford returns to action Thursday when it hosts Xavier in a 3 p.m game at Duncan Park.

Adam Jahnsen allowed just one earned run on five hits over eight innings to pitch Xavier to a 9-2 victory over Wofford this afternoon at Duncan Park in Spartanburg, S.C.

Eric Greenwell had three hits to key the Muskateer attack while James Schlosser had three RBI as Xavier won its season opener.

The Muskateers opened the scoring with a three-run second inning on only two hits off Terrier starter Tate Osterman (1-1). After Brett Smith doubled home the first run, Schlosser had an RBI groundout before Kevin McKnight closed the inning with a squeeze bunt to score Smith.

Xavier added three unearned runs in the top of the third, keyed by a Schlosser two-run single, to take a 6-0 lead.

Wofford (4-3) got on the board in the fourth inning on a Chris Cotugno run-scoring single to cut the Xavier lead to 7-1. Wofford's other run in the fifth came on a Muskateer error.

Cotugno and Matt Lein each had two hits for the Terriers, who played shorthanded as starting outfielder Brian Casey missed the game due to an afternoon lab while Travis Wilson was late for the contest because of an afternoon class.

The Terriers used six pitchers in the game.

Wofford returns to action Saturday when it hosts Georgetown at 1 p.m. at Duncan Park. Xavier begins a three-game weekend series at Furman tomorrow.

Chris Cotugno's pinch-hit double in the sixth inning scored Brian Casey from second to break a 2-2 tie and send Wofford to a 7-3 victory over Georgetown this afternoon at Duncan Park in Spartanburg, S.C.

George Lehr pitched the final 2.1 innings in relief to earn his second save for Wofford. The senior righthander has yet to allow an earned run in 10.1 innings this year while appearing in seven of the Terriers' opening eight games.

With the Terriers holding a 4-3 lead in the top of the seventh, Lehr recorded the final out to strand two runners on base. Brad Haynes then homered to center, his second of the year, to lead off the bottom of the inning and increase the Wofford lead to 5-3. Scott Holloway's two-out, two-run double in the eighth provided the Terriers' final two runs and the final margin.

Joey Cress (2-0) picked up the win in relief for Wofford. Culley Kline started and allowed just two earned runs on two hits while striking out five and walking two in 5.1 innings.

The Hoyas took a 1-0 fourth-inning lead on a Carlos Grazitua sacrifice fly.

The Terriers answered in the bottom of the fourth when Kyle Raulinaitis delivered a two-run single to put Wofford on top 2-1.

Eric Sutton (0-2) took the loss for Georgetown (0-3). The senior southpaw allowed three earned runs on four hits while striking out three and walking four in 5.1 innings.

Ron Cano and Michael Lombardi each had two hits on the day for the Hoyas.

Wofford and Georgetown will meet again at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at Duncan Park.

Brad Haynes was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the ninth to cap a three-run rally as Wofford defeated Georgetown, 17-16, in a Sunday afternoon thriller at Duncan Park in Spartanburg, S.C.

The Terriers improve to 6-3 for their best start to a season since opening the 1991 campaign with a 7-2 mark.

With Wofford trailing 16-14, Brian Casey opened the bottom of the ninth with a single before scoring on Matt Lein's RBI double. David Dufour then executed a bunt single with Lein taking third. After Steve Casey popped to short for the first out, Lein scored the game's tying run when Strat Stavrou's bunt was misplayed by Georgetown pitcher Patrick Salvitti for the Hoyas' ninth error on the day.

Following an intentional walk to Kyle Raulinaitis to load the bases, Hayes was hit on a 0-1 pitch to bring home Dufour with the game-winning run.

George Lehr (3-0), making his eighth relief appearance in the Terriers' opening nine games, went the final 3.2 innings in relief to earn the victory. He allowed just one earned run on five hits while striking out two and not walking a batter.

After Georgetown's Ron Cano hit a grand slam in the top of the sixth to give the Hoyas a 15-9 lead, Wofford answered with five runs of its own in the bottom half of the inning to close within 15-14. The key blow for the Terriers was a three-run pinch-hit double off the left field wall by D.J. Rhodes.

Stavrou had four RBI for the Terriers while Brian Casey, Steve Casey and Lein each had two hits. Lein, a freshman third baseman, is now 14-of-29 (.483) on the year.

Cano led the Georgetown attack with four hits and eight RBI. Matt Carullo also had four hits for the Hoyas (0-4).

After spotting Georgetown a 3-0 first-inning lead, the Terriers scored five times in their first at bat for a 5-3 lead.

Wofford returns to action Tuesday with a 3 p.m. game at Georgia Tech.

Wofford College's George Lehr has been named the SoCon Pitcher of the Week for all games played to this point in the season.

A senior from Largo, Fla., Lehr has posted a 3-0 record with two saves and a 0.64 ERA while appearing in eight of the Terriers' opening nine games. He has been instrumental in Wofford posting a 6-3 record for its best start to a season since 1991.

Lehr has allowed just one earned run on nine hits in 14 innings while striking out 12 and walking just two. Opponents have a .196 batting average against him.

Most recently, he tossed scoreless ball over the final 2.1 innings to earn the save in the Terriers' 7-3 Saturday win over Georgetown before coming back yesterday to pick up the win with 3.2 innings of relief against the Hoyas.

Lehr also garnered SoCon Pitcher of the Week honors as a sophomore. After tossing a scoreless inning to pick up the save for Wofford in a 7-6 win at the College of Charleston, he had a complete-game 7-2 victory the next day over the Cougars.

George Lehr saved both games of the doubleheader to equal a Wofford single-season save record as the Terriers swept Fordham by scores of 4-3 and 10-3 this afternoon at Duncan Park in Spartanburg, S.C.

Lehr, in pitching the final two innings in both games, now has four saves in Wofford's opening 14 games. He allowed just one hit in his four scoreless innings today, striking out four while walking three. He has now allowed just one earned run over 19 innings this season (0.47 ERA). His nine career saves are closing in on Wofford's all-time mark of 11 (Brian Mathis, 1986-89).

The Terriers' 10-4 record equals their best start to a season since 1991. The Rams drop to 0-2. Wofford and Fordham meet again in a 12 noon single game tomorrow.

Kyle Raulinaitis went 3-for-3 while Travis Wilson and Tony Carbone each knocked in two runs in the first game victory. Raulinaitis also went 2-for-3 in the second game.

Trailing 1-0 in the opening contest, Wofford scored three runs in the fourth to take a 3-1 lead. Carbone's two-out, two-run single keyed the inning.

Blake Timanus (1-0) allowed three earned runs on four hits while striking out two and walking two in five innings. In the second game, he had three hits and three RBI while playing first base as the Terriers scored five runs in the sixth to break open a tight contest.

Gary Kaible had two of Fordham's five hits in the opening game, including a two-run homer in the fifth to tie the game at 3-3.
